

Confidence Regained!

Steve, father to Chloe loves their lesson time together, it's a passion they share, something that's just for the two of them, but it wasn't always the case.

"Chloe started at another riding school on the Gold Coast which was closer to us. Every week she had a different teacher, mainly teenage girls, who had no time for her, no encouragement, and the horses were quite difficult to ride. Once they even let her jump without training at all. "

"It was awful; I would bring a newspaper to kill the time. I heard about Dalson Park and Todd McDonald and what a difference! I am really motivated to travel the 25 to 30 minutes each week, I so enjoy watching her now. Every week she has Todd as her teacher, so there is consistency and encouragement, and she's becoming a fine little rider. I am so proud of her. Our weekends are spent going to local shows, and I know the time is just about right to get our own pony, and I won't be doing it without Todd's help. Cant wait for the next Horse management classes to start."

Young and older adults are emerging now as the age group that are spending time at Dalson Park, especially after work in the evenings, renewing their childhood skills and confidence, and learning to ride for enjoyment and competition.
